M&A Insurance in 2022

An update for strategic buyers on the market for representation and warranty insurance | January 26, 2022

R&W INSURANCE

A REFRESHER ON THE PRODUCT AND ITS ROLE

From Novelty to Typical in Just a Few Years

R&W insurance (RWI) is used in mergers and acquisitions to protect against covered losses arising due to the seller's breach of certain of its representations and warranties in the acquisition agreement.

This is risk that would ordinarily be allocated to the Seller, subject to negotiated limitations

Structure (including Seller indemnity and Buyer deductible) depends on objectives of parties

Policies can be designed to supplement Seller indemnification obligations or function as Buyer's sole source of recovery (the latter becoming more common)

More commonly associated with mid-market M&A transactions but possible to put in place coverage value in excess of $1B

Representations and Warranties Insurance Enhanced Indemnity

A buyer-side RWI policy may enhance a buyer's potential for recovery rather than simply replace the typical seller's indemnity.

Coverage Highlights

Duration of Policy	Three years for general reps; Six years for fundamental and tax reps
Coverage Limits	Typically 10% of enterprise value / purchase price (up to 100% potentially available)
Retention/ Deductible	Typically 1% of enterprise value, dropping down to 0.5% at 12 months
Definition of Loss	Policy silent with respect to consequential damages (additional losses incurred as a consequence of a direct loss) and multiplied damages (losses based on an EBITDA multiple)
Standard Exclusions	Matters known to the Insured or that were not given any/enough due diligence, interim breaches, forward looking statements, working capital adjustments, asbestos, PCBs and CFCs, pension underfunding or withdrawal liability, transfer pricing and the carry- forward value of NOLs and other deferred tax assets.

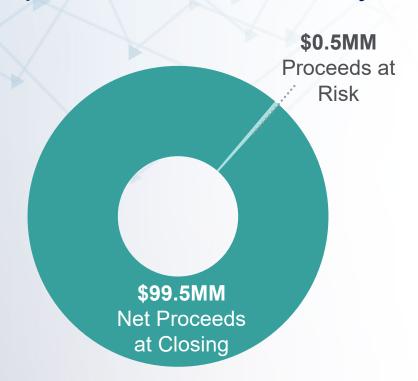

RWI allows sellers to close a deal with limited or no indemnity and can make a buyer's bid more attractive.

Traditional Deal Structure

$10MM Proceeds at Risk $90MM Net Proceeds at Closing

Representations & Warranties Policy

*Seller may cover a share of policy premium

Process and Timing

Partnering with your deal counsel and an RWI broker that is fluent in the product is critical to a smooth deal process.

Underwriting & Diligence Process and Timing

- Data room access
- Updated deal documents
- All external and internal diligence materials

Call occurs at least two business days following receipt of all diligence materials

- Typically lasts about two hours.
- Opportunity for carrier to ask questions regarding diligence and the transaction.
- Goal is to get carrier comfortable with the representations and warranties in the agreement (consider post-closing best-practice implementation vs. known breaches/deficiencies).
- Exclusions occur for known issues or material risks that were not diligenced.

Post Underwriting Call

Post Call

Following the call, the carrier will provide (i) an initial draft of the policy (based on recent precedent) and (ii) follow up questions / contemplated exclusions.

Aon will provide suggested policy edits and coordinate with Buyer/ counsel to consolidate comments and negotiate policy terms with the carrier

Bind Coverage

Once negotiated, Aon typically will bind the policy concurrent with signing the agreement.

3. INSURER ENGAGEMENT

Shortly after receiving a claims notice, insurer typically contacts client to discuss the breach, potential loss and investigation plan.

5. SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION AND DOCUMENTS REQUESTS

Thorough insurer investigation includes review of underlying deal, breach details and loss calculation. Clients can expect additional requests for information, including documents and discussions among principals, witnesses, counsel and experts.

2. BREACH AND LOSS ASSESSMENT

Depending on the nature and size of the claim, client may retain outside legal and/or accounting advisors to help establish the breach and resulting loss.

4. INSURER PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATION

Insurer determines the necessity of retaining outside advisors and issues a preliminary reservations of rights letter with an initial request for information.

6. NEGOTIATION AND RESOLUTION

At investigation conclusion, insurer issues a coverage position. Depending on the position, further negotiations may be required for resolution.

Claims Takeaways

What are Insurers Evaluating?

- Is there a breach of a representation in the transaction agreement?
 - What is the specific language of the representation at issue?
 - Is there a knowledge qualifier?
- Are there applicable exclusions?
- Did the relevant deal team members have actual conscious knowledge of the breach prior to the close of the deal?
- Specific to a financial statements breach:
 - Is there a violation of GAAP (where required by the rep)?
 - Is the alleged breach based on accounting procedures that were in place pre-close?

- How is loss calculated?
 - How can the insurer validate the amount of loss?
- If a multiple is sought, can the policyholder demonstrate that the breach would have had an impact on the purchase price had it been known?
 - Was the transaction value determined using a multiple?
 - Were there changes to the financials during the negotiation process that resulted in a corresponding change to the purchase price?
- Can the loss be mitigated or is there an offset?
- Do the actions giving rise to the breach straddle a pre- and post-close period?

• Litigation Risk Insurance protects businesses from adverse judgments and preserves the benefits of favorable judgments to facilitate balance sheet optimization and successful M&A and other material transactions.

Adverse Judgment Insurance

The potential for significant damages from litigation can hinder business operations or complicate M&A and other material transactions that weigh on your stock price or force you to reserve funds that could be better used to grow your business.

Judgment Preservation Insurance

When a party has won a significant judgment in court or in arbitration, judgment preservation insurance protects against the risk that the judgment will be partially or completely reversed on appeal, or that the quantum of awarded damages will be reduced.
